

Maintenance Program

Privileges and more...

The new Maintenance Program replaces the existing Annual Support and Upgrade (AS&U) program offered by CAMO Software, as a value-added component for users of The Unscrambler® software.

The Maintenance Program is developed to compliment the new flexible and adaptable Unscrambler® X software environment and provides a comprehensive and cost-effective way of keeping your technology investment up-to-date. It also supports your organisations budgeting process with a fixed annual program fee.

CAMO Software is a leading scientific software development company offering a complete range of multivariate data analysis and design of experiments solutions. These tools can be used in applications ranging from product development, spectroscopic analysis of agricultural or petrochemical products and pharmaceutical/biopharmaceuticals applications. CAMO Software's specialist in-house experts can also provide assistance with the implementation of process of analytical technology (PAT) and quality by design (QbD) tools into their facilities, through our various solutions.
